Let's play with...bubbles

Easy bubble mixture recipe

Ingredients

- 300ml of warm water
- 50ml washing up liquid
- Optional ½ teaspoon of baking powder/cooking oil (can be added if your bubbles are popping too quickly)

Method

- Pour the water into a measuring jug
- Add the washing-up liquid.
- Gently stir the mixture together to combine
- Let your bubble mixture rest (ideally overnight) as it lets the mixture settle
- When you're ready, dip your bubble wand into the mixture and start blowing bubbles!

Ideas for bubble wands Make bubble wands out of straws, pastry cutters or pipe cleaners. Experiment to see if different shapes make different

Activities with bubbles

shaped bubbles

- Try popping bubbles with a specific body part (arm, head, foot, leg etc)
- Set a timer and see how many bubbles you can pop
 Watch the bubbles float to the ground and talk to your child about what colours you can see in the bubbles
- Catch bubbles rather than popping them (putting a sock over your hand will make it easier!)

Ο

Staying safe in the sun

🔆 Keep babies less than 6 months old out of direct sunlight

- Older babies should also be kept out of the sun as much as possible, particularly in the summer and between 11am and 3pm, when the sun is at its strongest.
- If you go out when it's hot, attach a parasol or sunshade to your baby's pushchair to keep them out of direct sunlight
- Apply a sunscreen with a sun protection factor (SPF) of at least 30 to your child's skin check the sunscreen protects against both UVA and UVB rays
- Apply the suncream regularly, particularly if your child is in and out of the sea or paddling pool
- Make sure your child wears a sunhat with a wide brim or a long flap at the back to protect their head and neck from the sun

QUICK TIPS FOR LOOKING AFTER YOUR MENTAL HEALTH 1 Rest, rest and more rest! Plan regular days when the children are at school, where you have no to-do list & no demands. Housework can wait! Rest is not lazy. Get active, if you can 2 In whatever way works best for you, try to move your body. The endorphins will speak for themselves and you'll feel energised. 3 Listen to your fave music In headphones or out loud. Listening to your favourite music is a great mood booster, even better if you can sing along! 4 Touch grass! In all seriousness, getting outside into the fresh air is sometimes a great way to break out of feeling low. 5 Do something you enjoy Chat with your besties, or just scroll TikTok sat on the toilet, fitting tiny hits of 'you-time' in throughout the day can help lift you contact

2. Pick a safe space

A quiet spot with a smooth surface or grass is best.

Try to pick a dry day with plenty of time, so your child doesn't feel rushed.

4. Get comfortable

Talk your child through the different parts of the bike - the handlebar, the wheels, the spokes...

Help them practise getting on and off their bike too.

3. Step and glide

Your child might start off by sitting on their bike and using tiny steps to move forward.

Then they can move onto gliding, using bigger steps.

5. Stay positive

Keep things fun. Take a break if either of you get bored, tired or tetchy. And if they feel nervous, try some simple exercises that prove they have control.

Managing change -Top Tips for leaving primary school

Talk about what's happening

Talk to your child about the upcoming change and explain why it is happening. This is an opportunity to discuss what the change may bring and address any concerns they may have.

Try... The "What If" game - take turns imagining different scenarios related to the change. This allows your child to express their thoughts, concerns, and expectations while sparking meaningful conversations.

Involve Your Child in Decision Making

Where appropriate, involve your child in the decision making process related to the transition. This involvement gives them a sense of ownership and control over their new experience.

Try... Plan an outing to shop for school supplies or items needed for the transition. Let your child take the lead in choosing their own supplies, such as backpacks, notebooks, or lunchboxes.

Encourage expression of feelings

Change can draw out a range of emotions in children. Let your child know it's natural to feel a mix of excitement, nervousness, or sadness. Create a safe space for them to talk about their concerns, and provide comfort and understanding.

Try... Read books together about characters who are going through a similar transition and talk about their emotions. There are plenty of examples online or try your local library.

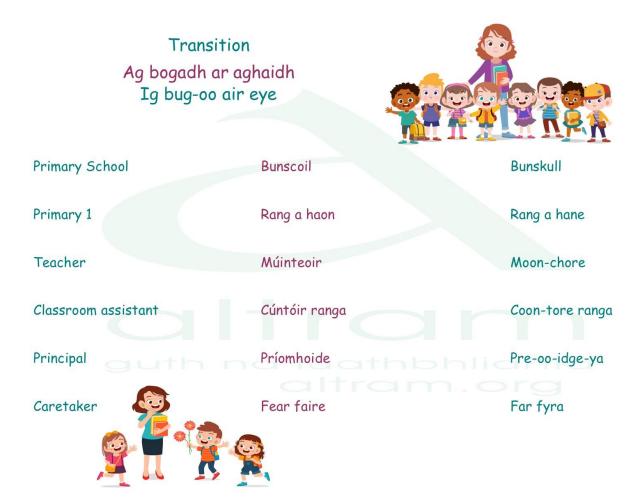

Embrace change and remain positive

Emphasise the positive aspects of the change. Talk about new opportunities, friends they might make, & exciting activities they can look forward to. Maintain an optimistic attitude and convey your own enthusiasm.

Try... Decorate a jar together. Fill it with notes about the positive aspects or exciting things about the upcoming change on colourful slips of paper. If your child feels apprehensive they can pick out a note and read it aloud.
