

Working with LGBTQ Youth – Inclusive Approaches

With increased legislative protection and greater visibility of LGBTQ people in society one might consider discrimination, inequalities and social exclusion to be problems relegated to the past. Despite many advances however, research continues to illustrate the issues that young people face as a result of their sexual and gender identities.

Drawing from both youth work practice over the last 12 years with young LGBTQ women, and doctoral research focusing on the experiences of young women growing up and 'coming out' in Northern Ireland, this one-day workshop will -

- Consider the appropriateness of various gender and sexual identities terminology.
- Provide a brief overview of recent legislation designed to ensure equality.
- Consider the impact of discrimination and exclusion on young people.
- Provide sign posting to relevant organisations, programmes and resources.
