**please note the change of time

A number of information events for key stakeholders introducing the concepts of using the iThrive model for system change to help understand roles, responsibilities and expectations in supporting children's and young people's EHWB.

These information events are for health, education, third sector and service users to inform facilitated workshops about how to support children and young people with mental health, neurodiverse or neurodevelopmental needs.

These online sessions will allow for an introduction and Q&A session.

Registration will be necessary to attend these events – use the links as above
